Devens Rose, Historian

On October 5, 1877 - Following a 1,700-mile retreat, Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce Indians surrendered to U.S. Cavalry troops at Bear's Paw near Chinook, Montana. "From where the sun now stands, I will fight no more forever," he declared.

Meet A Member, Susan Eschrich

When asked to write about myself, I was stumped. What should I write? Should I tell people that I have three fantastic grown sons, that I have three amazing grandchildren, or maybe that I spent most of my life living on Long Island (N.Y.), moved to Ohio for fourteen years, and have been transplanted to Florida since the summer of 2014? Or, should I talk about my position at Hillsborough Community College's Ybor City Campus overseeing an English for Academic Purposes program? Maybe I should mention how proud I am to be a member of the Tampa DAR chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which is only possible because my patriot, John Mullins, took an oath of allegiance in Henry Co., Va., served under Capt. Poteet, and fought in the Battle of Kings Mountain. Had it not been for an aunt on my father's side (who I didn't meet until I was in my fifties), having done all the hard work to research our family genealogy, I wouldn't have been eligible to serve as our chapter's recording secretary. I have met so many wonderful women in this chapter and know that we share a common bond that transcends generations, with our roots deeply embedded in the history of our country, and our future's entwined as we press towards the goal of promoting citizenship.
